“(Water+Land+Sky) ×Tourist bus”

4th Grade, Sesoko Elementary School by Rensei Nakajima

“Hey look, the tourist bus is going to the sea.”

Zappun (sound of the sea).

“Oh, it was an amphibious bus.”

Pata pata pata pata, Byun byun byun byun (sound of the wing).

“No, it is not. It flew to the sky!”

This is the story about the tourist bus that becomes a ship or a helicopter. The bus has an electric motor and a battery with a light, a strong body, and FRP (Fiber Reinforced Plastics) that is resistant to rust. It can charge the energy on the sunny day, because there are folding propeller with solar panels on the roof. It will be charged automatically during operation by rotating any tire, screw or propeller. When the night or bad weather, it is also possible to charge the wind power that propeller was rotated by natural wind. If it is at night or bad weather, it is also possible to charge by wind power that occurred by rotating propeller by natural wind.

You can enjoy the tourism at a time from the sea, river or sky, because the bus can come and go freely land, water, the sky, and the road. It can be rotated quickly tourists on the tour season, because they can visit many places in a short time. The bus does not need fuel, and you can also ignore congestion and travel time by half. Would you like a greedy plan that is earth-friendly?

If there was the bus during off-seasons, we can respond to the voice of the customers who require a fishing boat, a pleasure boat, or a helicopter for sightseeing. If there were a lot of the buses, it would be no problem. It is also useful for people as convenient substitutes, such as “Doctor Heli” (helicopter emergency medical service), power supply to buildings, and a mobile power-generating car, in particular emergency conditions.

I think I want to develop this bus in the future. Besides, I hope to get a license of tourist bus, boat, and helicopter, and also want to study a foreign language. Eventually I want to be a driver who is actively involved in the front lines of tourism in Okinawa. Then I want to put the customers all over the world on the bus and guide Okinawa you have never seen before.

“But Okinawa is too far, I'll feel tired when I go there.”

“It's quite difficult to take a long vacations for me.”

Don't worry about it. We transfer you to a place near your home for customers like this, even if you live anywhere.

If you can participate in tourism with guide leisurely and see the beautiful scenery that looks from car windows, the land that looks from the clear sea and Okinawa that overlooks from the clear blue sky, I think you are surely satisfied.

"Shall we go to look for Okinawa you have never seen before?"

"Shall we go to find the secret of Okinawa still not known by anyone?"

"Certainly, you will make a reservation again next week, won't you? Thank you for your frequent patronage, sir/madam."
